FOUR ESCAPE IN ACCIDENT

Ugly Driving Accident on Hanover Street Late Sunday Night Results in Buggies Being Damaged, People Escape Injury.

Hanover street was the scene of an ugly driving accident on Sunday night about eleven o'clock when the teams of Reuben Harman and Harry T. Smith both of Straban township collided, throwing all of the occupants to the ground. Fortunately no one was hurt but the buggies were badly damaged.

Mr. Smith was driving towards town and says that he was blinded by the electric light at the east end of Hanover street. With no warning at all he suddenly found that he had run into the team of Mr. Harman who was returning home from Gettysburg. In a moment Mr. Smith and the two young ladies who were driving with him were thrown out and Mr. Harman was also thrown from his buggy.

The shafts in both vehicles were broken and several wheels smashed. The harness was badly cut and it required some time before Mr. Harman could get things in shape to go home. Mr. Smith was compelled to borrow a buggy before he could proceed with his friends.

Mr. Smith has been in a number of driving accidents but has always escaped with a few bruises and Sunday night he was almost under the horse's hoofs, but by quickly releasing the animal he saved himself. Both men were fortunate in having their horses make no attempt to run away.

TOPICS OF THE FRUIT GROWERS

Adams County Fruit Growers' Association Held Regular Meeting in Arendtsville Town Hall Saturday Topics Discussed.

A regular meeting of the Fruit Growers' Association of Adams County was held on Saturday afternoon in the Town Hall at Arendtsville. Since the last meeting there were 31 applicants for membership. These were all elected on Saturday, bringing the total enrollment up to 214. It includes practically all of the most representative and successful growers in the fruit belt.

E. C. Tyson reported on the hearing of the Lafean apple pack age and grade bill before the House Committee on Agriculture at Washington. H. M. Eldon and Mr. Tyson, who assisted in framing the bill, were present at the hearing and represented Pennsylvania fruit interests. The hearing lasted two days and the matter was gone into very carefully.

There was vigorous opposition from the states of Washington and Oregon to the size of the box as prescribed by the bill. The Western fruit growers wish to use a box containing less than a bushel and put it in competition with the eastern full bushel box. Mrs. Tyson brought out the valuable aid Congress man Lafean is giving the measure. The decision of the committee has not yet been announced.

The transportation committee, U. S. Kinnel, E. C. Tyson and R. M. Eldon, reported progress. A plan was outlined for securing information from the members to show to the railroad company the probable future needs of local fruit growers. The committee will go over the situation here and then show to the railroad officials the amount of freight they may expect from the fruit belt in the next two, four and six years. The present facilities, the fruit growers judge, will not be adequate to handle the increasing business of the future.

A discussion was held on the question "Shall we Plant Peach Trees in the Face of Insect Enemies and Diseases?" It seemed to be the general opinion that the presence of these troubles only makes the business more profitable to the careful grower as it eliminates the other growers who are not sufficiently careful or intelligent to give the trees proper attention.

George Oyler stated that he liked a good elevation for peach trees, with sloping, well drained loose soil and that the trees should be fifteen or sixteen feet apart from each other in each direction.

Mr. Prickett stated that he did not favor planting peach trees both ways in an apple orchard. Mr. Eldon recommended planting one year old trees of medium or small size rather than large trees. There was considerable discussion of the various varieties and many favorites were mentioned.

The next meeting will be held in Fruit Growers' Hall, Bendersville on Saturday evening, April 9.

EXHIBIT IS INTERESTING

Tuberculosis Exhibit of the State Department of Health in Court House Proves of Great Interest. Schools Make Visit.

The tuberculosis exhibit of the State Department of Health now open in the Court House is one of the most interesting things that the people of this place have been privileged to see for some time. It opened this morning and will remain open until Tuesday night.

This afternoon at three o'clock a lecture was given for the benefit of the pupils of the high and grammar schools. Tuesday morning at ten o'clock a similar lecture will be given for the pupils of the parochial schools and at eleven o'clock the remainder of the school children of town will hear it.

Among the things exhibited in the court room are models of the cottages, pavilions, a relief map of the entire camp and pictures of the scenes about the place.

The relief map is one of the most interesting features of the exhibit. All of the cottages are shown together with the bath house, pavilions, building for incurables and other parts of the establishment. The map is a beautiful piece of work showing the trees, paths and various beauties of the resort.

The model of the cottages shows the arrangement of each room, the halls, methods of ventilation, manner in which windows and storm shutters are worked. A table is arranged as it is at the sanitarium with paper table cloth and napkins which are changed after each meal.

The tent used and the pavilion model are also unusually interesting. The men in charge of the exhibit are quick and courteous to explain all details and it is worth any one's, while to spend a half hour at the Court House. Charts and pictures give an excellent idea of the kind and extent of work being done by the State Department of Health.

Free lectures with numerous stereopticon pictures will be given at 8.15 Monday and Tuesday evenings.

MONTE CARLO GIRLS

Next Tuesday night will be burlesque night, and the real show will be here. For many seasons burlesques have been coming to our city, but one of the most popular and the favorite among the "boys" is the Monte Carlo Girls, with their pretty girls and funny men. This season an entirely new show has been written for these merry makers. The opening burlesque is entitled "The Merry Madcaps," in which the entire company appear, and as the name implies, it is one mad riot of fun. The closing burlesque is entitled "Too Many Husbands." This is said to be the funniest and most up-to-date piece that they have had in years. Added to the above is a number of the higher class vaudeville specialties, among which are many old time favorites, especially "Lew Golden," our old Hebrew friend, one of the very best and highest salaried comedians in the country; and the boys always know what to expect with him in the cast; also our old friend LeBelle-Myrtille with a new sensation, a night in the Orient or the dance of the seraglio.

With the near approach of the first of April the annual Spring business is beginning in dead earnest. Those in a position to know, state that the demand for money is unusually large and that while it was easy to get money on first mortgage at five per cent. several years ago, it is necessary now to pay five and one half and six per cent.

The anti-saloon league representatives who visited Gettysburg on Sunday, March 5, were evidently much pleased with the result of their work here. A letter was read in the College Lutheran church Sunday morning stating that the offering in that church alone had been $81.63, of which amount $23.63 was in cash.

The Pennsylvania monument contractors continued their rapid progress last week and those who paid their regular Sunday visit to the place noticed a great difference from its appearance a week ago. The general opinion of those visiting the place is that the memorial is going to be a great ornament to that part of the field.

High winds and falling temperature brought out the overcoats and put more coal in stoves and furnaces Sunday night. A severe wind storm early in the evening cleared the streets for a half hour or more, but the usual Sunday evening church goers were on their way soon after the storm subsided.

The dates for the state demonstrations in Adams County apple orchards have already appeared in these columns. Dr. Surface, the head of the department, may conduct one or both of the demonstrations and all questions regarding the care of trees will be cheerfully answered. The public is invited to be present.

On Friday one of the largest sales of the season was held at the farm of C. P. Bream in the western end of the county. The total amount of the sale was $3780. It is said that the demand for chickens has never been so great as it now and that people buy almost regardless of price. Stock continues to sell at top notch figures.

The St. James orchestra played at the weekly meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association on Sunday afternoon. The meeting was well attended. The active work of the organization is now directed by Mr. George Fissel who was recently elected secretary. Those interested in the association hope to increase its membership greatly within the next few months. It is now about fifty.

The college musical clubs have completed their annual tour and report having met with success during their ten days' outing. The trip this year was through the eastern part of the state, taking in Lebanon, Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Columbia and a number of other towns. There were a number of town boys who accompanied the clubs on the trip.

MORE PAY OR NO COAL DUG

Miners' Ultimatum Threatens to Close Hard and Soft Coal Mines.

Cincinnati, March 14.—More pay or all the coal mines tied up is the ultimatum of the mine workers.

Thomas L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of North America, issued a statement in which he declared that unless increased wages are granted the miners he will issue a strike order affecting hard and soft coal mines alike. He declares that the men have $5,000,000 for a strike fund.

"The miners are not talking strike, and don't want to strike. But if a strike must follow a failure by this conference to agree upon a new wage scale, 600,000 men and every industry dependent upon coal will be affected."

This was the explanation offered later by Lewis of a statement credited to him earlier, to the effect that a strike was sure to follow the refusal of the coal mine owners to meet the demands of the men.

WEDDED IN 45 STATES

German Professor and Wife Have Knot Tied Many Times.

Newark, N. J., March 14.—Ludwig Lewishohn, a German professor and writer, born in Berlin thirty years ago, claims the unique distinction of being married to his wife in every state in the Union except New York. He has just added New Jersey to the list, the nuptial knot being tied here for the forty-fifth time. The ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace Henry Bossett.

Lewishohn removed the band ring from the bride's finger, and while the justice was performing the ceremony the couple smiled and appeared as happy as though it were their first venture.

WARSHIPS WILL TRY TO RUN FORT MONROE

Actual Test to See if Invading Fleet Can Pass.

Norfolk, Va., March 14.—In connection with the introduction of Congressmen Maynard's bill to appropriate $150,000 for land at Cape Henry upon which to erect modern fortifications, it is learned that in the fleet evolution program this spring will be included a trial run of the battleships past Fort Monroe and up Chesapeake bay to demonstrate finally whether the fort can command the western channel.

A report of former maneuvers was that the guns could not prevent a hostile fleet passing up the bay, and this is the object of Mr. Maynard's bill to place a fort at Cape Henry which will stop any fleet from passing through the Virginia Capes on evil bent. Among the items reported for the maneuvers will be bubbling targets with masts as tall as a battleship placed at different lengths on the western channel. It is proposed to have the modern guns at the fort bang away at these targets to demonstrate whether they are able to destroy them.

In all probability there will be a delegation of congressmen to witness the test. While the president and secretary of war, it is said, are in favor of either fortifying Cape Henry or building an artificial island between the capes of Virginia, it is said that Mr. Dickinson is desirous of being "shown" that the guns at Fort Monroe cannot "make good" along the western channel, which vessels would take on their way up the bay to keep out of the range of modern armament.

ACID DRIPS ON HER FACE

Woman, Pinioned Under Auto, Severely Burned by V. trial.

Williamsport, Pa., March 14.—While speeding along West Third street near the approach of young creek bridge an electric automobile containing James Mosser, Jr., vice president of J. K. Mosser & Co., tanners, and Mrs. Mosser, turned turtle, pinning both under the machine.

Mr. Mosser worked himself from under the automobile in ten minutes and obtained help. Mrs. Mosser was pinned down for a half hour, and during this time vitriol from the batteries trickled over her head and neck.

She suffered severely from burns and three broken ribs, and will be disfigured for life. Mosser received burns and bad cuts under the jaw.

Constable Cussed Preacher; Fined.

Altoona, Pa., March 14.—Constable Charles E. Luther, of Uniontown, was caught in his own petard when he was fined for public swearing in a political argument. Luther cussed Rev. H. E. Wieman, leader of the Anti-Saloon League of Juniata, who was the prosecutor.

R. R. FIREMEN MAY STRIKE

General Walkout on Western Roads Threatened.

ALL LINES NOTIFIED

President Carter, of the Brotherhood, Says Strike Will Come Unless Magistrates Agree to Arbitrate Demands.

Chicago, March 14.—Practically every railroad system west and south of Chicago has been notified by President W. S. Carter, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, that 25,000 firemen will strike unless the entire controversy is submitted to arbitration.

The railroads up to this time have not been in favor of arbitration.

Mr. Carter's letter of notification was indorsed by the Brotherhood's committee, which represents the firemen on about forty-seven railroads west, northwest and southwest of this city.

Position of Railroads.

The railroads previously announced their willingness to arbitrate the increased wage demand, which the firemen say would amount to about 12 1/2 per cent. The other demands involved, the managers say, concern discipline and authority and are not open to arbitration. These points have to do with the promotion of firemen and questions whether, when they become engineers, they are still under the jurisdiction of the Brotherhood.

"Does your letter mean that if a satisfactory reply is not received a strike will be called?" Mr. Carter was asked.

"It looks very grave," he said. "We are nearer a disagreement than we have ever been during the whole six weeks of conference. We do not want a strike. We want the public to understand that. As to our authority to strike, we have the vote of more than 80 per cent of the men in favor of it. All of the answers we have received from the managers heretofore have been evasive. I hope their next reply will not be so."

It was learned that the managers had agreed to "stand pat," and while refusing to make any concessions, probably would invite the Brotherhood's committee to another conference.

Figures on Wages.

There was given out for publication what purports to be the total amount of wages paid to railroad employees in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1908. These figures, it is said, will be submitted by the railroads to the interstate commerce commission and will appear in the commission's report.

Most of the year covered by the statistics was a "panic period," and the tables are remarkable, inasmuch as they show only a slight decrease over the high salary record year of 1907.

The amount paid to labor during the year was $1,035,437,582, which was an increase of 9.5 per cent over 1906 and a decrease of 3.44 per cent over 1907.

Figures show a notable increase in the cost of labor compared to gross operating revenue and to operating expenses. There has been a steady and consistent increase each succeeding year. In 1902 the percentage of labor cost to revenue derived was 28.2, as against 42.1 in the latest report. The percentage of labor cost to operating expenses in 1902 was 60.5, while in 1908 it reached 62.

Engine drivers and firemen suffered a decrease in salaries in 1908 of slightly more than 3 per cent, compared to the preceding year, but even with the decrease the wages showed an increase of about 12 per cent over the wages paid in 1906. The decrease and increase in conductors' salaries for the same year were .066 and 14.53. All other firemen's earnings were cut down 2 1/2 per cent from the earnings of 1907, but the 1908 figures show an increase over the earnings of 1906 of 16 per cent.

Two Firemen Killed.

Jamestown, N. Y., March 14.—In a fire which destroyed the interior of the Gokey factory building, Fireman Hanson was killed by the collapse of a fire escape. Foreman Alfred F. Shoemaker fell four stories, sustaining a fractured skull, which caused his death, and Fireman Joel Oberg was seriously injured by a fall. The fire loss is about $100,000.

$3000 In Old Trunk.

Indiana, Pa., March 14.—While tearing down an old barn, Frank Kehne found a trunk in which was secreted $3000 in bills. The property formerly belonged to Charles Gelsman, an uncle of Mrs. Kehne, and he is thought to have hidden the money.

Avalanche at Wellington.

Seattle, Wash., March 14.—It is reported that an avalanche at Wellington, the scene of the Great Northern disaster, in which more than 100 lives were lost two weeks ago, has buried a rotary snow plow and two engines with their crews.

The Weather.

Forecast for this section: Fair and much colder, with a cold wave, today; tomorrow, fair, with rising temperature; high northwesterly winds.

If there is any ground for the statement alleged that many a farmer in dairy sections is selling his butter fat at 50 to 55 cents per pound and buying butterine—beef suet and cottonseed oil, etc.—at 16 to 20 cents a pound to grease his pancakes with very little enthusiasm will be aroused on his behalf on the part of the day laborer who is buying butter or some other kind of fat all of the time and has none to sell. Country people should use creamery butter or go without if they expect to win public favor in their war on the oleomargarine trust.

WILL ASK ROOSEVELT TO RETURN MEDAL

State of Georgia Refuses to Pay For It.

Atlanta, Ga., March 14.—When former President Roosevelt returns to the United States he will probably be asked to return a medal which was presented to him at the Jamestown exposition by the state of Georgia. As a matter of fact, although the medal purports to have been presented by Georgia, it was not, and that is why its return will probably be asked.

W. Norwood Mitchell, the Georgia commissioner at Jamestown, ordered the medal, but the state refused to pay for it, along with many other bills rendered by the commissioner. The medal had already been presented to Roosevelt and Mitchell and his friends paid for it and the other bills repudiated by the state.

Meeting these obligations practically ruined Mitchell and his friends. Now Mitchell and his friends propose to put the facts before Roosevelt and ask him to return the medal, so that the name of Governor Terrell, of Georgia, may be erased and the names of those who paid for the medal may be inscribed. It will then be returned to Roosevelt as a token of esteem from Georgia gentlemen.

CALHOUN STATUE UNVEILED

South Carolina and Massachusetts Join in Honoring Him.

Washington, March 14.—In the two houses of congress South Carolina and Massachusetts joined hands over the grave of John C. Calhoun. The occasion was the unveiling of the statue of the great South Carolinian, set up in statutory hall sixty years after the period of his long continued struggle for states' rights.

The unveiling was conducted wholly by South Carolinians. The cords holding together the drapery were loose by Mrs. Bratton and Miss Gist, both daughters of the Palmetto state. Governor Ansel presided and former Governor Mauldin delivered the principal oration. The statue, depicting its subject in a striking attitude, is placed between the figures of Ethan Allen and Lewis Cass, directly facing the office of Webster, Calhoun's great antagonist. Directly after the unveiling the ceremonies of acceptance took place in the senate and house, where representative of the two ante-bellum belligerent states met to bury the hatchet. Senator Lodge and Representative McCall spoke for the New England commonwealth and Senator Smith and a number of South Carolina representatives for that state.

Leaders of fashion and business were in the throng which filled the boardwalk for blocks. A few bathers appeared, but found the surf still chilly and refused to linger in the breakers. Scores of yachtsmen placed their craft in commission for ocean cruises, while over 100 automobiles came in during the day.

LITTLE CHANGE IN PHILA. STRIKE

Railroads Spoil Director Clay's Brutal Scheme.

WANTS NO SUBURBAN TRAINS

Head of Quaker City Police and Mayor Would Protect Trolley Cars From Violence by Filling Them With Passengers—Railroads Won't Be Dictated To.

Philadelphia, March 14.—The tenth day of the sympathetic strike and the twenty-fourth of the carmen's walk-out finds both sides struggling to maintain their position. While many who quit work to aid the carmen have returned to their shops, many others walked out.

Some 200 carpenters at Disston's saw works in Tacony and several thousand brewery workers walked out. The milk drivers, the bakers, the grocery clerks and all other union men in the city were called out. How many who quit work to aid the carmen have returned to their shops, many others walked out.

A peculiar situation has developed as a result of the strike against the Rapid Transit company. Last week at least 70,000 non-union employees of the various industrial establishments quit work to aid the carmen. Union organizers have been busy among them organizing unions. As this city has long been known as one of the strongest non-union cities in the country, many manufacturers are expecting trouble in the future. Many of the new unions have formulated demands that will soon be presented to the employers.

City Officials Intimidate Railroads.

The city officials asked the Pennsylvania, Reading and Baltimore & Ohio railroads to discontinue running local trains, trains that have been of much service to people living in sections of the city where the Rapid Transit company's service was crippled. A representative was sent to the companies. In substance he said:

"Now that normal conditions are being resumed on the Rapid Transit company's lines, the mayor and director feel that you should discontinue the extra train service put on during the trolley strike and leave the local passenger business to be accommodated by the trolley cars, to which it belongs. They believe that, as the necessity for the extra train service has passed, the railroads have no right to continue it."

In one of the railroad offices it was stated to the city hall messenger that the Reburn-Clay proposition appeared to be an attempt to force the passengers back into the trolley cars. In a burst of frankness, the messenger admitted that this was so, and that the objects were to enable the Rapid Transit company to regain its normal business, to protect the company's cars against violence by filling them with passengers, and to hasten the end of the trolley strike by promoting a public demand for a full resumption of service.

The answers received by the Reburn-Clay messenger were different from what was anticipated.

In effect, the Pennsylvania railroad's reply was: "We are capable of managing our business without dictation from city hall. We will maintain the extra train service as long as public accommodations demand it."

The Reading railroad's reply was succinct and to the point: "Your suggestion is utterly preposterous." The Baltimore & Ohio reply was such a flat refusal that the Reburn-Clay messenger lost his poise and temper in the offices of the superintendent and was invited to get out.

These three railroads are carrying thousands of passengers daily who have had no other means of travel during the trolley strike.

After the German trades at a meeting expelled all the brewery workers and agreed that they would not buy Philadelphia-made beer, the workers announced that they would join the strike.

The Central Labor union adopted a resolution calling upon all union organizations and union men and women in the country over to withdraw their deposits from all financial institutions. This action was taken, it was explained, because the company boasts of the support of financial interests.

Efforts For Peace.

Efforts for peace were made by a committee of the United Business Men's conference, who met to hear separately J. Burwood Daly, representing the street carmen, and D. T. Pierce, executive assistant to President Krueger, of the company. The only statement made by the committee was that it would prepare a report.

Though it was Sunday, little disorder occurred in the city. A mob wrecked five cars at Twenty-third and Lombard streets and nearly killed one of the crews. Two other disturbances took place in West Philadelphia.

The company announced that virtually the normal Sunday schedule of cars had been maintained.

TAFT ATTENDS FUNERAL

Pittsburg, March 14.—President Taft attended the funeral of Thomas K. Laughlin, the brother-in-law of Mrs. Taft, who killed himself at his home in this city on Friday last. Only the president, Mrs. Louis More and Mrs. Charles Anderson, sisters of Mrs. Laughlin, and a few immediate relatives and friends were present. Mr. Taft, accompanied by Captain M. W. Butt, his military aide, and his two sisters-in-law occupied the second carriage in the funeral procession, which moved out to the Allegheny cemetery through a misty rain. Flowers from President and Mrs. Taft, Representative Nicholas Longworth and other friends in Washington were placed on the casket. At the cemetery the grave was covered by a white tent. The services at the house were conducted by Rev. Maitland Alexander, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

This is the second time since his inauguration that the president has attended the funeral of a relative. The first was that of Mrs. D. Taft, at Watertown, Conn., last December.

DREAM RESTORES PURSE

Six-Year-Old Girl Finds It Safe Under Dirt and Snow.

Pittston, March 14.—Six-year-old Claudia Dodgins, daughter of Joseph Dodgins, of Throop, had a dream of a little purse containing $1, which she lost several days ago while on an errand for her mother. She was much exercised by the loss, cried about it and it seldom left her mind. Saturday night she had a vivid dream, in which she saw the purse lying in the street gutter, two blocks away from her home. The next morning she induced her mother to accompany her. She walked directly to the place, scratched away the snow and dirt that covered it and found the purse just as she had lost it.

WOMAN CARRIED TO DEATH ON ICE CAKE

Slipped Into River in Sight of Rescuers.

Detroit, Mich., March 14.—An unidentified woman sank to her death in the Detroit river after a terrible struggle to keep afloat on a huge cake of ice.

At the time the woman slipped off the cake of ice the fire tug James Battle, two Windsor ferriesboats, two dozen police officers and many citizens were making frantic efforts to save her. Walter Hewitt, a Windsor negro, jumped off the deck of the ferryboat into the icy waters and attempted to save the woman, but he could not reach her because of the cakes of ice coming down the river.

The crew of the fire tug launched a small boat and was within a few feet of the woman when she slipped off the ice. Where the woman came from and how she got on the ice cake is a mystery that the police are trying to solve. The police searched the docks for miles to learn who she was and where she lived, but were unable to find any one that saw her.

Patrolman Vannortwick was the first person to hear the woman's screams. She was then passing the foot of Randolph street. He notified police headquarters and the fire department for help and followed her down the river until she was drowned.

MISSING GIRL'S BODY FOUND

Heiress Who Escaped From Nurses Perished in Water.

Lakewood, N. J., March 14.—The body of Miss Helen Bloodgood was found in the waters of Lake Carasajlo in about ten feet of water, thirty feet from the shore, off what is called the Laurel-in-the-Pines point.

It was brought by the finders to the Kissing bridge, and there it awaited for an hour the arrival of the corner from Toms River, who allowed the body to be removed to an undertaking parlor, where it will be prepared for burial.

The finding of the body in Lake Carasajlo indicates that the girl escaped from the home on Wednesday morning in the manner stated by the nurses at the beginning of the search. She evidently darted down Seventh street, then through the private way, over by Georgian Court, the residence of George J. Gould, and at that point, in all probability, she took her leap in to the waters of the lake.

Hanged Herself With Silk Stockings.

Pittsburg, March 14.—With her silk stockings lightly knotted together, one end bound around her fair neck and the other fastened to a shower bath in the private bathroom of her luxurious Selma Ruth Kaufman, twenty-eight years old, of New York, was found in the fashionable New Hotel White, Fifth avenue, McKeesport.

Tent Cure Saves Lives.

Peoria, Ill., March 14.—Since a tent colony for the cure of tuberculosis patients was added to the Peoria State Hospital for the Insane two years ago more than 600 sufferers have been discharged as cured. The number of tuberculosis patients has so greatly diminished that the ward is now used for other cases of sickness.

SEVEN KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Miners Were Imprisoned by Fall of Roof.

WERE QUICKLY SUFFOCATED

Black Damp Ended Their Lives Before Rescuers Could Reach Them—Six Widows and Twenty-four Children Mourn Victims.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., March 14.—An explosion in No. 5 colliery of the Lehigh & Wilkes-Barre Coal company ended the lives of seven mine workers. There were no injured, every man in the zone of the explosion meeting death. Only two men of the gang of nine escaped. They were James Hayes and Martin Williams, who a few minutes before the explosion had gone for supplies. A few minutes afterward they heard the roar of the explosion and felt the concussion. They rushed to try to give aid to their comrades, but were driven back, weak and faint by the firedamp. They then gave the alarm. The explosion was terrific and caused the roof for some distance to fall in.

Superintendent J. C. Joseph and Mine Foremen Evans and Edwards took charge of the first rescue gang and made a gallant effort to reach the victims, but they, too, were driven back by the firedamp. It was then realized that this would have to be driven out of the workings in order to get to the men. General Manager Charles Huber, Superintendent Morgan and Mine Inspector Thomas R. Price soon reached the scene and took charge of the rescue work. Air passages were built and hose taken down as a means of carrying a stream of fresh air into the explosion zone at the head of No. 12 plane. So great was the quantity of firedamp, however, that it was six hours after the explosion before it could be dissipated sufficiently to permit the rescuers to reach the top of the plane.

Suffocated by Firedamp.

The bodies of the seven men were found lying along the plane. They had been suffocated by the firedamp. The explosion had been confined to a small area, but the air conditions made it possible for the suffocating afterdamp to gather so quickly that the men had no time to run far before they were overcome. Most of the men were lying on their faces, with their hands covering their faces as if to shut out the firedamp.

Six widows and twenty-four children are mourning the victims. All but one of the seven were married. The men were Owen Griffith, who leaves a wife and one child; Hugh Price, a wife and six children; Andy Gaffney, a wife and three children; William Jenkins, a wife and two children; Evan Williams, a wife and seven children; William Jones, a wife and five children, and John Owen Jones, single.

General Manager Charles Huber is unable to account for the accident. The fire boss reported the place safe a few hours before the accident. It may be that some one meddled with a door and diverted the air current, allowing a body of gas to accumulate.

SOCIETY WOMAN'S ART

New York, March 14.—A feature of the little group of sculptures included in the eighty-fifth annual exhibition of the National Academy of Design, that opened in the galleries of the American Fine Arts society, is the symbolic "Paganism Immortal."

It represents the nude figures of a young woman and a youth, carved in white marble by Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney. The figures will be shown in the Vanderbilt gallery.

Mrs. Whitney has been an exhibitor at the Architectural League show and other art exhibitions, but heretofore her work has been shown under an assumed name. This is the first time she has exhibited an example of her work at the National academy.

That the jury of selection appreciates the effort is shown by the fact that a reproduction of "Paganism Immortal" will appear in the spring catalog.

Injured Middy Worse.

Annapolis, Md., March 14.—It was stated at the naval hospital that Midshipman Earl D. Wilson, whose neck was broken during a football game on Oct. 23 last and who has since been paralyzed below the neck, was worse.

The surgeons are not able to say whether his present weakness precedes a definite change for the worse or if it may be overcome and Wilson be able to sit up again. They can, however, offer no hope of an ultimate recovery.

10,000 Persons See Whale.

Port Arthur, Tex., March 14.—More than 10,000 people were brought here on excursion trains from all parts of South Texas to see the ninety-foot whale that was captured alive a few days ago near Sabine.

Paris, March 14.—The administrators of the Carnegie Hero Fund here have decided to make awards to the widows of three soldiers who lost their lives in rescue work at the recent floods.

If cement is used as a stable flooring a generous supply of bedding should be used. This will serve to protect the floor and the horses' feet and will offset the harm that might come from the tendency of such a floor to gather dampness. The same principle will apply in the use of cement as a floor for the henhouse, particularly during the months when the hens are closely confined therein.

To any one who is interested in the project of earning a livelihood by the intensive cultivation of a small area of land a little book lately come from the press of Macmillan & Co., New York city, will prove both entertaining and instructive. Its title is "Three Acres and Liberty" and its author is Mr. Bolton, who was assisted in its preparation by some of the leading agriculturists and horticulturists of the country.

THE MASKED WOMAN
By ALICE T. SHERWIN
Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

During the protectorate of Oliver Cromwell there appeared in one of the stalls (or shops, as we would call them) in the Royal Exchange, London, a masked woman who sold small articles, such as gloves, laces, neckwear and other goods, called by the Britons haberdashery.

One day the Marquis of Lorient, who since the defeat of the Cavaliers had kept himself away from London, passed that way. The estates of his father, the Duke of Ethelstone, had been forfeited on account of the family's adherence to King Charles I., and the marquis was in sad straits for a living. He stopped at the stall of the "masked woman," as she was universally known, and entered into conversation with her, pricing such articles as he saw on her counter. Then, with a sigh, he turned away, saying: "I would fain buy of your goods, mistress, but I am without means."

"Select what you wish, sir, and pay when Charlie comes home."

Now, the term "when Charlie comes home" meant in those days "when Charles, eldest son of the beheaded king and legitimate heir to the throne, is recalled to assume his rights as sovereign of England."

"I see," said the marquis, "that you are a royalist. Mayhap you are, like myself, an impoverished noble."

"I am a royalist, but I am simply the masked woman making an honest living. These gloves would, I think, fit you. Will you let me try them on your hand?"

The marquis permitted her to try the gloves on him, but not with the expectation of buying them. He liked to feel her fingers on his own.

"There," she said when she had finished, "tis a perfect fit. Take them and pay, as I said, 'when Charlie comes home.'"

But the marquis stubbornly refused to accept credit, especially from a commoner, for the woman had said, "I am simply the masked woman," and he went away.

But there was something in the figure, the voice, the carriage of the masked woman that appealed to him in a way he could not account for. Wherever he went the masked woman in fancy went with him. Waking or sleeping, he saw her moving about in her little booth and heard the sweet sounds of her voice.

So it was not long before he again found himself at her counter pretending that he came to look over her goods, though in reality he came to get another glimpse of her.

"What can I sell you this morning?" she said.

"Indeed, Mistress Masked Woman—I know not your name—I am longing today, and I like to come here to see you sell your wares. I would that I could give you my custom; but, alas, I have none to give. The Roundheads have taken my all."

"Mayhap they have spent it for psalm books?"

"What they have spent it for I know not, but this I know—it is hard for me, who have always had a sufficiency, to get on with nothing."

"May I sell you the gloves today?"

"Alas, I have no more the where-withal to pay for them than when I was here before."

The masked woman took up the gloves the marquis had tried on the day before and, making them into a packet, handed them to him.

"Would you give a poor woman pleasure?" she asked softly.

"I would not rob a poor woman," he replied, drawing back.

"I ask you to permit me to do you this favor."

There was that in her tone which appealed to him. He took the packet and kissed the hand that gave it.

The marquis was seen no more at the masked woman's stall after that for some time. Then one day he drove up in his carriage and purchased the whole stock of the masked woman. When she congratulated him on coming to his own he told her that a cousin had died and left him a legacy.

When the marquis drove away he did not take the stock with him, though he left the money for it. That was his last visit to the masked woman's stall, for soon after "Charlie came home." There was great rejoicing among the Cavaliers that after the rule of the Puritans the rightful king had returned from France. Then the masked woman disappeared from the exchange.

But the marquis thought of her by day and dreamed of her by night. His estates were restored to him, but he was not satisfied, because he longed for her and knew not where to find her.

One evening he drove to a fete given by the king. The young dowager Duchess of Aberglid, whose husband had fallen in the late war, was present and approached the marquis.

"Have you still the gloves?" she asked archly.

The marquis recognized her voice as soon as she spoke. "I have," he replied, "but have never worn them. I hold them too precious to be used."

The duchess, having been cut off from her income during the protectorate, had the choice of emigrating to France and there being supported by the French king or earning her own living. She had chosen the latter alternative.

Before the marquis came into the dukedom he married the masked woman.

The Japs seem to have caught on to the benefits to a country of the dairy business and are picking up some fine dairy animals in this country for shipment to the Flowery Kingdom.

All too often a breachy, runaway team and an ancient, toggled up harness belong to the same man. Either one alone is bad enough, but together they are calculated to make a fellow lose what little religion he may have cultivated.

Banish Catarrh
Breathe Hyomei for Two Minutes and Stuffed Up Head will Vanish.
If you want to get relief from catarrh, cold in the head or an irritating cough in the shortest time breathe Hyomei (pronounce it High-o-mei).
It will clean out your head in two minutes and allow you to breathe freely. Hyomei will cure a cold in one day, it will relieve you of disgusting sniffles, hawking, spitting and offensive breath in a week.
Hyomei is made chiefly from eucalyptol, a soothing, healing, germ killing antiseptic, that comes from the eucalyptus forest of inland Australia where catarrh, asthma and consumption were never known to exist.
Hyomei is pleasant and easy to breathe. Just pour a few drops into the hard rubber inhaler, use as directed and cure is almost certain.
A complete Hyomei outfit, including inhaler and one bottle of Hyomei, costs only $1.00 at druggists everywhere and at The People's Drug Store. If you already own an inhaler you can get an extra bottle of Hyomei at druggists for only 50c.

With the poultry and egg business of the country aggregating close to $650,000,000 annually, it will have to be styled as a pretty good sized side issue.

"Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof" should not be construed as a Scriptural excuse for a fellow failing to look ahead in testing his seed corn. Rather should one be guided by that secular admonition, "The Lord helps those who help themselves."

The number of bushels of apples ruined annually through codling moth infestation—the moth responsible for the apple worm—is placed at between 20,000,000 and 25,000,000 bushels, or nearly one-third of the total crop marketed during the past two or three years. Here is a leak, a leak of the biggest kind, that orchardists ought in good conscience to put an end to.

TOPIC OF PRESENT IMPORTANCE
Personal health is and should be one of the greatest considerations of life, and as so many local people are praising the new remedy, Root Juice, it is not surprising that so many of the afflicted people of this county are so eager to talk about it and get all of the information they can in relation to the many remarkable cures it has made and is making.
It invariably proves a great and agreeable surprise to weak, nervous, dyspeptic, constipated people, for after using it for a short while the soothing, healing and tonic properties of the wonderful remedy removes irritated and sore conditions from the linings of the stomach, bowels and bladder, heals and strengthens the liver and kidneys to healthy action, resulting in a good appetite, food well digested, bowels regular, good, rich blood, free from rheumatic poison, and it soon nourishes and strengthens the whole nervous system. The people at the drug stores are proud of the wonderful merits of Root Juice, and gladly tell all interested of much of the great good it is doing here. People's drug store.
